District Superintendent's Report

During the 2013/14 school year, Lexington School District Two was selected to participate in TransformSC, an innovative education initiative of New Carolina. TransformSC is a non-profit, public/private partnership between educators and business owners who know that public education is the foundation to the state's economic success. Our District is committed to making certain that our students graduate career, college, and citizenship ready. As a result, we opened an Early College program in conjunction with Midlands Technical College at Airport High School, and completed the planning year for a New Tech Academy, STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Math) at Brookland-Cayce High School. Along with these endeavors, we launched approval for several Transform Lex2 innovative initiatives at our elementary and middle schools.

System-wide, we served approximately 8,900 students in two early childhood centers, seven elementary schools, four middle schools, two high schools, an alternative school, two residential treatment facilities, and an adult education center. The District maintained its efforts to recruit and retain the best instructional staff with over 80% of the certified staff holding advanced degrees.

With the support of our Board of Trustees and stakeholders, Lexington School District Two garnered a wide variety of national and state awards and recognitions. At the national level, the District was selected as a recipient for Achieve 3000's National Literacy Reading and Writing Award. Also, we were selected to present at the National School Boards Association Conference on our "Promising Practice" commendation for our Cohort Professional Staff Development Model for teachers. At the state level, our Transition to Employment Program for special needs students was recognized as the State's Program of the Year. Along with these recognitions, our District was selected as the roll-out site for Governor Haley's Education Initiative.

Six of our schools received either a Palmetto Gold or Silver Award for Exceptional Academic Performance. Brookland-Cayce High School, Gold for Overall Achievement; Airport High School, Silver for Overall Achievement; Northside Middle School, Gold for Overall Achievement; Springdale Elementary School, Gold for Overall Achievement; Fulmer Middle School, Silver for Closing the Achievement Gap; Pine Ridge Middle School, Silver for Closing the Achievement Gap. Along with these honors, B-C Grammar School No. 1 was recognized by the South Carolina Association of School and Curriculum Development for efforts to enhance student academic performance, and the District partnered with United Way for grants for the Countdown to Kindergarten and Midlands Reading Consortium programs.

Instructionally, the District provided for over a million dollars to technology infrastructure improvements for our schools and strengthened technology professional development for our teachers by adding two additional technology coaches to our staff.

As "Champions for Children," Lexington Two's Professional Learning Community is committed to a laser-like focus on effective instruction aimed at preparing all of our learners to be college and career ready.

Dr. Venus J. Holland, Superintendent

Mr. Bill Bingham, Jr., Board Chair
